

Janet Wood
Age 33, Writer

Janet grew up using computers. Mostly she liked them for communicating with friends and as a creative tool. At a young age, she started writing her own stories that she would illustrate using pictures she would find on the internet. She likes to use her computer as a tool in her writing, but she likes it when that tool can disappear into the background and not get in the way of her creativity. She lives alone with her two cats named Hemmingway and Fitzgerald.

Jack Tripper
Age 29, Copy Editor

Jack is a die-hard gamer. He plays games on different platforms including a PC, PS3 and the xbox. In college, he majored in english with a minor in technical writing. He feels that he knows his way around a computer. He has built every PC that he has owned and he has hacked a gaming system or two. He lives alone with his two ferrets and a sugar glider.

Crissy Snow
Age 20, Intern

Crissy is taking writing classes at a local community college. She is a social networking diva. She is constantly updating her blog, Crissy's Corner, via her phone, iPad or MacBook. She doesn't like clutter and easily gets confused by it. Make it simple and shiny is her motto. She lives with her current boyfriend, a bass player in a cover band.
